About the course Antenatal care

Course Presenter : Ø§Ù„Ù…Ø¹Ù‡Ø¯ Ø§Ù„Ù†ÙˆÙ† Ø§Ù„ØµØ§Ù„Ø

Antenatal care, in this course provides a comprehensive overview of antenatal care, focusing on the essential practices required to ensure the health and well-being of both mother and fetus during pregnancy. Learners will study the stages of pregnancy, routine check-ups, and the role of healthcare providers in monitoring maternal and fetal development. The course covers vital topics such as nutrition, supplementation, immunizations, and lifestyle guidance for expectant mothers. Participants will also explore the detection and management of common pregnancy-related conditions, including hypertension, gestational diabetes, and anemia. Emphasis is placed on patient education, emotional support, and preparing mothers for labor and delivery. Through case studies and clinical examples, learners will develop skills in risk assessment, early identification of complications, and communication with patients. By the end, participants will be equipped to provide safe, holistic, and evidence-based antenatal care that improves maternal and neonatal outcomes.
